floorplan

From 3 queues 3 people enter a room spend 9min together and leave. They do not see each other in queue and they do not see each other leave. They spend 9min together as Strangers.

(QR-code Machine makes it possible that only people will be matched with strangers. Never the same constellation) city nomad

in status quo = everyone in Berlin has atleast a room they call home. Most of the time it is a golden cage.

Can life be possible in a city without a fixed home?
